RESTORATIVE WORKSHOPS

A Social-Emotional Curriculum Teaching Restorative Practices, Peace, and Forgiveness

The TKF Restorative Thinking Workshop is a ten-session educational series with lessons focused in teaching skills to be mindful and manage emotions, be accountable for one's actions, and comprehension of making amends, practicing compassion and forgiveness. The curriculum is built on tested instructional materials intended to meet instructional educational standards for character building, social competency, healthy decision making, and personal safety. Our curriculum helps students develop social skills, sound reasoning abilities, and advocate for collaborative behaviors. The instruction integrates multiple learning formats to keep students interested and engaged. TKF's course emphasizes active student discussions and encourages sharing personal views, opinions and experiences on the various topics. The school-based workshop is facilitated in 45-minute sessions.

PEACE EDUCATOR MENTOR

An Individualized Mentoring Service

TKF Peace Educators are hired mentors placed on school campuses to assist and support students most at risk. TKF Peace Educators provide the individualized attention and guidance selected students need to improve their academic performance, reduce school infractions, and improve attendance. Our mentoring strategy incorporates a restorative approach that is focused on peacemaking, behavior management, and mediation to prevent misconduct incidents. Their interventions focus on advocacy, educational assistance, life skills, and positive school engagement. Working with caseloads of 12 to 20 students, Peace Educators provide multiple weekly contacts through one-on-one mentoring, group activities, classroom monitoring, and service projects. TKF creates a campus presence centered on school safety and supporting the needs of students.
